

Parent & Community Events

Research shows that students who have involved parents not only go further and do better in their education, but are also more likely to be successful in life. The following events help foster connections between students, parents, schools, and community.

Family and Community Showcases

Showcases provide students the opportunity to present work completed during afterschool program hours. Students create artwork and develop presentations to display. Families, mentors, community members and school staff are invited to attend these special events.

Parent Trainings

We have developed partnerships with local presenters to offer workshops based on training topics identified by parents such as guiding children through adolescence, media awareness, bully proofing youth, and Internet safety.

Math & Reading Nights

Math & Reading Nights get students excited about math & reading, familiarizes parents with the curriculum, and encourages families to continue the fun of math & reading at home.

Lights on Afterschool

A nationwide celebration to call attention to the importance of afterschool programming for America's children, families and communities.
